++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Murky start, brightening up with showers later. Largely dry tonight.

Today:
Rather murky with low cloud and perhaps a bit of drizzle over the hills at first. Sunshine and showers developing later in the morning, slow-moving and occasionally heavy during the afternoon. Feeling pleasant in any spells of sunshine. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers dying out for most during the evening, then largely clear and becoming chilly. Slightly milder along coastal areas, with an increasing risk of sea Haar. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Thursday:
Low cloud spreading inland during the morning, then breaking into sunshine and isolated showers, mainly over the western hills during the afternoon. Low cloud becoming extensive during the evening. Cool. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Rather cloudy and cold on Friday, the cloud slowly burning back to the coast. Still rather cloudy on Saturday and Sunday but brighter with showers, occasionally heavy in the afternoon.
